

Sees Great Bear Isn't Bit Scared

Princess Galtuin, a Russian noblewoman of Edson, Alta., shown here, recently returned from a trip into the great Alaskan province district around Great Bear Lake in Northwest Territories. It is said to be the only woman ever to have entered the area. But she did not stay long—only about two hours. She wasn't bit scared, she said, though she was the only woman among nearly a hundred and fifty men. There was no accommodation for her when she arrived, so she looked the place over and then left. At the time there wasn't even a store in the little settlement of Great Bear. The men were living in little frame shacks which they had built themselves, but they were very comfortable, since timber for structural purposes is scarce in the district.

EDMONTON'S GUESTS

Edmonton today has the privilege of welcoming the remarkable team of Australian cricketers who are journeying homeward across the Dominion after demonstrating their prowess on the first cricket field that the welcome will be most cordial go without saying.

To the many Edmonton devotees of the game the week is an event. Public interest in the visit of the guests is attested by the fact that civic holidays have been found conducive with their arrival. The fact that the guests will take the opportunity to see the great team in action here, as tourists have done at other points in Canada, which they have played.

The high ideals of sportsmanship with which cricketers stands associated are nowhere more appreciated than in Edmonton. It is to be expected that the guests will be exponents of the game will make both the game and the ideals even more popular, here and elsewhere in Canada, than they have been.

NO DANGER OF A FLOOD

For the last week or more assurances have been coming from Ottawa daily that no efficiently-conducted Canadian industry need be afraid it would be subjected to unfair competition because of any trade agreement to which our Government would consent.

This has been welcome news of course, though it was by no means clear why it should be thought necessary to thus reassure the obvious. There is nothing in the record of the last two years to arouse apprehensions that Mr. Bennett would be too free-handed in extending tariff favors to British goods. The doubling, tripling and quadrupling of the tariff against goods that have taken place in that time forbids any supposition of the kind.

Nor, so far as discovered, has our Government been at any point to draw the tariff down on goods produced in Canada and industries and the other kind. Unless we are aware that all Canadian industries have been managed efficiently, the thought of a tariff reduction in the order-in-council have fallen alike upon the just and the unjust.

Our Ministers might or would reverse this policy of extension and admit a devastating flood of British manufactured products, is an assumption of which the public have been not guilty and have had no cause to entertain.
On the contrary, the Canadian Government has had cause to fear that Mr. Bennett was too obsessed with the protection mania to grant any concessions that would be of compensation importance to either British or Canadian.

The daily and quite unnecessary assurances that Canadian industrial interests would be safeguarded tend strongly to confirm that impression. The inference seemed natural that the Government was endeavoring to address to justify itself for standing pat on the "Canada first" policy and refusing to make concessions to Britain that would be anything like the concessions that would be made to "efficient" industries, just as the preference granted to British thirty years ago was fought on the ground that we must protect our "infant" industries.

There is nothing in the program introduced on Thursday to disturb confidence that the Ministers are wavering or wondering on the "Canada first" principle. There is offered to Britain the minimum which is being offered to any show of concern for intra-empire trade, the concessions to be extended largely by limiting the tariff against the products of other countries, and there is added to return that Britain impose a tariff against wheat, meat, fruit, dairy products and metals coming from countries in which Britain sells more of its products than it is suggested it could sell in Canada under the proposed arrangement.

Whatever the merits or defects of this offering, the country will not be injured by it. Not a chance in the world of that.

THE FAIR MADE GOOD

The Exhibition Association reports a gross profit from the summer fair amounting to $10,000. That is a very good year's business with a net profit of $10,000, all bills paid and all administration and capital charges provided for.

Congratulations are accordingly due to the management, the staff, and all who have been carrying on the operations of the fair. The result shows could not have been obtained except by a clear appreciation of the unfavorable conditions that had to be met and a shrewd guess as to how much expenditure the circumstances would allow.

Congratulations are not less due to the taxpayers of the city who are ultimately responsible for the success of the public of this civic enterprise. They are due also to the general public, in that the city and district have secured the direct and indirect benefit to be derived from the holding of a successful exhibition in this which made them exceptionally difficult.

It may be well to add that there was some ground for these apprehensions and doubts. There had been deficits in the three preceding years had-run-through. There had been losses in four years out of six. There was a fair degree of scepticism in the far less promising conditions of the present year, and made to pay expenses was a view that defied the result of probabilities.

The outcome demonstrates beyond any question that the fair was a success.

Edmonton's fair can be carried on, and carried on successfully, whether the seasons happen to be good or bad. If the fair can be made to pay in a year such as this, it can easily be made to pay in a year when the times are better, and it is not likely to encounter a year when the time will be worse.

Talk about suspending the fair in future years because economic conditions are not rosy will be arguing against prejudice; just as it was arguing against prejudice to say that a loss could be avoided this year when losses had been incurred in more favorable years. And if in future years the returns fail to show a balance on the right side, that failure will have to be put down to mistakes in management, not to the adversity of the "times."

OPEN FOR INSPECTION

London papers have been complaining that Premier Bennett put his cards on the table face down when he addressed the Ottawa Conference met. Maybe that was just as well.
He put them face up in London two years ago and broke up the party.

London perhaps thought, and no doubt hoped, that in the meantime Mr. Bennett had drawn a less strongly protectionist hand. The cards are face up now, and it is for the critics to say how much intra-empire trade has suffered because they were not disclosed sooner.

What He Still Owns

By Edgar A. Guert

He thought he had his fortune, but the market went to smash. And someone closed his large account before he'd drawn out.

And someone wrote the figures down, and when the balance came

He'd only eyes to see with and two legs to bear his frame.

He had a bit of property he'd boasted off he owned, But the bankers held the deed to it for money they had

Nor someone else had title to that piece of city land, But at the end of either arm there's still a nimble hand.

He still has ears for hearing and two cheeks his children stroke.

No one's claimed his right to laugh when someone tells a joke.

No one's all the wisdom he has gathered through the years.

And he's a cripple envies him whenever he appears.
He still has health and vigor, and the future for his years.

A survivor, hale and rugged, fit for battle still he seems.
But someone changed the figures on a blackboard and Because he thinks he lost some money he never really had.

Maintain your credit. It's the only way to success. famous mountain tomorrow. What provisions should make?

Inskeeper: Pay me in advance—Passing Show.

The danger periods are from 7 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. and from

You will be working under auspicious planetary conditions on August 8th. The cards get things done and to put things over. It will be a day for helters, not drones. It will not be an inspirational time, however, and cheerfulness alone may drive you into blundering mistakes, just "to be doing something."

The child born on this August 8th will be in possession of a brilliant combination of possibilities.
It is doubtful whether it will ever take life into its own hands and make much of it. This will be due to both mental laziness and willingness to "catch a ride" when walking is necessary for its own development and observation.

You have a manner, if born on August 8th, of one who is in the whirl of life and not sitting on the sidelines. You have the character of an outward-looking person, one who is in sympathy with all, and of the human world. Your aims are not beyond the stars, and your desires are more for an interesting life than for perfection. You have one of the greatest secrets of success—from the throne of the kitchen—the art of getting along with people.

You are always able to hold your own without

Health and Diet Advice

By Dr. Frank McCay

Tuberculosis was at one time the most dreaded disease in the civilized world both because of its frequency and because of the number of deaths it caused. Tuberculosis is still the most prevalent disease in the world, but the death rate is decreasing gradually but surely each year. However, there is still an appalling number of deaths from this disease which could easily be prevented if the fundamental causes were better understood.

What is the meaning of the gradual decrease in tuberculosis? In the first place, the cause of this disease is usually very gradual and one has time to develop it. The disease is usually very gradual and one has time to develop it. The disease is usually very gradual and one has time to develop it. The disease is usually very gradual and one has time to develop it. The disease is usually very gradual and one has time to develop it.

An encouraging thing about tuberculosis is that it is almost always curable unless very advanced indeed. The drawback is that the cure requires much time and great caution on the patient's part, and, even after the disease is arrested, a period of several years of careful living is necessary before the patient can be considered cured. Tuberculosis of the lungs is the most frequent type, but this disease may attack any part of the body and frequently affects the bones, intestines, and central nervous system.

The fact that tuberculosis is easily cured is proven by the examination of autopsies, as almost everyone who lives in cities will have heard tuberculosis cases in the lungs. It has been estimated that fully 80 per cent of everyone has at some time or other contracted tuberculosis and in most cases the vitality of the body was able to overcome the disease even without the affected one's knowledge. Usually the disease is fairly advanced before it becomes noticeable enough to alarm the one who has it. With our present knowledge of the disease, if the patient will begin the treatment as soon as it is recognized and recovery should take place in almost every case provided the patient is willing and able to follow directions implicitly. There is very little fear of the disease.

At one time tuberculosis was believed to be very infectious for everyone, but doctors now realize that few people except children are infected. A child has and time to develop it. The disease is usually very gradual and one has time to develop it. The disease is usually very gradual and one has time to develop it.

A year or so ago the Government placed a tax on foreign-made goods. In addition to that, there is also the sales tax.

Might I give a few examples in order that you will see why you pay the new duty and also the sales tax. For instance, we recently received a notice from the Federal Revenue Post office to the effect that in future the cost to the trade would be increased by one-half cent per yard. The retail price was, however, to remain as before, 10 cents.

And now for the effect on the British goods. The small's cent weakness which are made in England and are sold in Canada. For 2 cents a copy, by boys and girls are subject to a 15 per cent tariff, with the usual addition of the sales tax. A weekly of that price costs the dealer 15 cents per copy, but the duty does not amount to such a big item on one copy. But it would hardly be fair to raise the retail price of a copy to 20 cents. So you will see that the dealer has to take time out to attend to the clearing of a small lot of dutiable goods and also to the duty.

Another item in the new tariff by which the retailer receives a severe loss is the one on books. A book which is sold in Canada for 25 cents, and is subject to a 15 per cent tariff, and the retailer has to go to the customs department each week and pay what is due. It doesn't matter what amount has to be paid, whether it is one cent a week or $1.00, the dealer has to clear the goods and present them to the customs. So you will see that the retailer has to take time out to attend to the clearing of a small lot of dutiable goods and also
to the duty.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS QUESTION: Vivian T. asks: "Is it possible for one to regain the tons of small which was entirely destroyed by nasal treatments when a child?"

ANSWER: The tonsils are a part of the body which are severely injured by treatments, if not be possible to restore, the sense of smell. I have, however, known cases where the sense of smell was restored partly or entirely restored where the loss of smell was due to treatment for catarrh of the nasal membrane. Non-surgical treatment, following a fast would bring about the changes necessary to effect a cure if such is possible.

QUESTION: Mr. Orville T. asks: "While at the beach I saw a small fish, a sand dollar, a sea urchin, pen and all in the other hand" was an ice cream cone. Can that combination be eaten without harm?

ANSWER: Ice cream may be eaten in combination with any non-acidic vegetable, or with any fruit, providing no starch food is used at the same time.
Citrus fruits and milk are good, but a good deal of fat is in them, but bread is added, there is tendency to serious digestive disturbance from the food combination.

fore they put it into effect. It would save a lot of time and trouble, not to mention money, if they would.

The Passing Show

By J. S. Cooper

Premier Bennett's political dealings as a politician recently when he refused to take time off from his arranged engagements to listen to the sorrow of a delegation of western farmers.

By all the rules of the game he made a grand blunder. He should have shown them marked courtesy, listened to their representations in sympathetic silence—broken now and then by a word or phrase by which he showed that he should have assured them that their representations would receive "the most careful consideration." He should have promised quick action on their petitions and then, after Parliamentary business and after kissing them goodbye proceeded to forget all about them and their troubles.

Many men have built up good reputations and held office by observing these well-tried political principles in relation to their constituents.

Bennett, however, added mistake upon mistake and insult upon insult. He gave them to understand that he knew all about their troubles without their breaking his heart by telling him. He never invited them to lunch, never engaged the cigars, never used the magic phrase "careful consideration" and finally refused

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 8.—Novelty happens! It looks as though Gilbert Roland, who is now in the picture "The Sign of the Cross," seemed to be very much the favorite of the Hollywood crowd. He is a very handsome man, and he is a very good actor. He is a very good actor.

It is out of the hospital now but still not quite well enough to return to Hollywood. What a tragedy it is to see a man who is so handsome and so good a actor, and who is so good a actor.

FEARS FEELIN SASKATCHEWAN WHEAT AREAS

Crop Not Turning Out as Expected—Rains Are Needed

REGINA, Aug. 8.—From reports received from a few sections of the southern part of Saskatchewan, particularly in the dried out areas, the crop of wheat this year is not turning out as at first expected. The drying weather and lack of rain during the past three weeks have withered much of the wheat, causing a serious reduction in the yield in some districts. The average yield is expected to be about 10 bushels to the acre, but the general opinion is that many farmers will not harvest what they expected to three weeks ago.

At Aylesbury, wheat has already been delivered to the elevator. It graded No. 1 Northern and averaged about 10 bushels to the acre. The district around Aylesbury is expected to harvest about 17 bushels to the acre.

A number of farmers in the Simpson district have started harvesting their wheat, and though some of it has been threshed, the average is placed at 12 bushels to the acre. The wheat is of good quality, and the district is expected to harvest about 17 bushels to the acre.

At Brokenhead the first wheat delivered to the elevator Tuesday of this week was of good quality, and the district is expected to harvest about 17 bushels to the acre.

Welland Canal Is Now Open To Commerce

60 Lost Lives When This Ship Foundered

GREAT FREIGHT SHIP TYPIFIES WORLD TRADE

Thousands Attend Great Ceremony at Thorold

Locks

By RAY MONROE

Canadians Press Staff Writer

THOROLD, Ont., Aug. 8.—The Welland ship canal is "open to the commerce of the world."

These simple words from His Excellency the Governor-General, on Saturday afternoon, crowned a great achievement. Then he moved a control lever.

Slowly, the huge red and white hull of the steamship "Lancaster," world monarch of (fresh water) freighters, came to life. Power, flying almost imperceptibly, moved down the new canal towards the Governor-General.

The Minister of Canada, and the Empire statesmen and ladies, gathered to receive her. Thousands watched her progress. At that moment, the first of the water-borne commerce of Canada and of the world.

The opening ceremony, at the new $200,000,000 waterway were perfect, unimpeded in the history of Canada. They brought to the flag-draped masonry structure, the first of the new locks, six statesmen from the four corners of the British Empire.

One after another distinguished representatives of the British Empire, and her remote dominions, gave their congratulations. Then the Governor-General, in a speech, declared the Welland ship canal open to the commerce of the world.

Canada's great water transportation was coming into life. Another day, another expression of our pleasure that the vision of 1913 had become the reality of 1932.

The United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand, India, the United States, Newfoundland, through their respective consuls, gave their congratulations. Then the Governor-General, in a speech, declared the Welland ship canal open to the commerce of the world.

His Excellency the Governor-General, in a speech, declared the Welland ship canal open to the commerce of the world.

SCENE OF HEAVY

A bright sun in a clear sky, about a dozen hours, had been shining, and the deep blue lake, thousands of people in holiday attire were gathered.

From a regimental band the notes of the National Anthem rang out, as the governor-general drove up at three o'clock in the afternoon. He was accompanied by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and his wife, the Minister of Railways and Transport, and the Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

DE MANION PRESIDES

As chairman of the day, the department which performed the work of the day, the governor-general, presided over the ceremony, presided over the ceremony, presided over the ceremony.

THE REAL SIGNIFICANCE

The real significance of the canal was that it constituted a link in the great waterway, Premier Bennett remarked, of little value otherwise. It was one of the great waterways of the world.

FORNERS PAID THE WORK

For the first time, the work of the canal was paid for by the British Empire, the British Empire, the British Empire.
